Cuba Strength to Be Discussed by McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will publicly discuss the Kennedy administration's estimates of Soviet strength in Cuba on a radio-television broadcast today, the White House announced.

The broadcast was scheduled for 5 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

McNamara will head a group of Pentagon officials who will hold a news conference on the subject.

The White House said a number of radio and television networks would carry it live, but broadcast plans were incomplete.

In recent days, some Republican Congress members have challenged the administration's estimates of the Soviet arsenal in the Caribbean, contending that Soviet strength there is greater than the Pentagon and State Department have reported.

The White House indicated that McNamara and his colleagues would give a detailed accounting of U.S. intelligence findings.

Originally, the administration planned to have McNamara conduct a background briefing on Cuba for newsmen.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the briefing was being converted into a public news conference because "so much interest has been manifested" in the session.

In another move understood to have White House blessing, John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, agreed today to present a detailed report on the Soviet arms status in Cuba to a Senate watchdog defense subcommittee.

Informed senators said McCone was expected to testify this afternoon at a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee.

McCone's appearance was reportedly arranged by President Kennedy.

Arkansas Regional Forecast BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Central Arkansas: Clear to partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight.

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Parliament was dissolved today and a national election was called for Monday, April 8.

By MAX HARRELSON
OTTAWA (AP)—Canada headed today for an election campaign based on close-to-home economic issues as well as the U.S.-Canadian nuclear weapon dispute which toppled Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative government.

Diefenbaker's government was the second in nearly 100 years of Canadian confederation to be beaten down by a no-confidence vote in the House of Commons.

The prime minister was to call today on Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier, the required prelude to dissolving Parliament and setting an election date.

The election probably will be set for April 8.

Although the nuclear weapon dispute brought down the government, chief opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said he believes the major issue in the coming campaign will be the need for economic and social policies to stimulate "our national growth to the point where we'll be able to give employment to all who are willing and able to work."

Pearson, leader of the Liberal party, apparently was trying to tone down the defense issue. He, too, has been attacked for advocating that Canada live up to commitments to accept nuclear weapons and then negotiate to get rid of them.

Diefenbaker's Conservatives are certain to emphasize charges that the United States interfered in Canadian affairs by calling publicly on the government to accept nuclear weapons. They also are expected to accuse Pearson of taking orders from Washington, a charge the Liberal leader hotly denied when the Conservatives raised it in the nuclear weapon debate.

Diefenbaker's government was brought down by two votes, each 142-111, on no-confidence motions posed by the Social Credit and Liberal parties. Two deputies from the third opposition party, the New Democrats, voted with the government.

Both motions accused the Conservative government of indecision and failure to give a clear statement of national defense policy. The Social Credit motion also charged the government with failure to act on economic legislation approved by Commons.

Local Realtor Named to Nat'l Board

Vincent W. Foster, Hope Realtor, has been appointed to serve on the Professional Standards and License Law Committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The Association presently has a membership of 73,029 Realtors in 1,445 real estate boards throughout the United States and ranks among the nation's largest business and professional organizations.

Foster is immediate past Chairman of the Arkansas Real Estate Commission, Chairman of the Arkansas Real Estate Association's Political Action Committee and a member of its Litigation Committee. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank in Hope.

New CC Leaders at Lewisville

LEWISVILLE, Ark. (AP)—New officers were installed for the Lewisville Chamber of Commerce at its fourth annual dinner here Tuesday night. The officers included president L. C. Nutt; Vice President Glenn Parks; treasurer J. C. Landes and secretary-manager Frank Key.

SUBDUED — Dennis Clinton Rice is lowered from the room of an apartment house in Cheyenne, Wyo., where he held off police during a four-hour gun battle before being subdued. The 21 year old power company accountant and sometime musician threatened to kill anyone who entered the apartment after he ordered his wife out of the house so he could do his income tax.

BASKET BABY — This two or three weeks old baby boy was abandoned on the steps of the Saint Rose of Lima Church in Baltimore, Md., wrapped in blankets and carried in a basket. There was no note or other information with the child.

Common Mart Has Barred U. S. Poultry

WASHINGTON (AP)—The European Common Market has built a wall of discriminatory fees to exclude U.S. poultry, industry spokesmen told Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and some 50 Congressmen Tuesday.

They urged American action to break through the tariff wall. Freeman told the spokesmen "the case has been strongly presented to every agriculture and foreign minister — not once — but many times. We have been on this — and on this hard — for more than a year."

Industry representatives from several poultry producing states joined Virginia spokesmen, whose activities led to the hearing, in protesting the big increase in European import fees since last August.

Freeman told the spokesmen and Congressmen at the informal hearing that a favorable balance of trade is important in settling difference on tariffs.

"I'm not sure who has the shotgun," he said. Later, he agreed the United States does at least have a pistol.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who presided over the hearing in the Senate Finance Committee hearing room, told reporters after the session it was an excellent hearing for getting information.

McCaskill RCI Meets Feb. 8

The McCaskill RCI will hold its regular monthly meeting this Friday night, February 8th, starting at 7:00. Following the pot-luck supper, Mr. Arthur Storch of Ozark will present a talk. Everyone is urged to be present.

State Taxes Low, It Says Here

NEW YORK (AP)—Arkansas was $79 per person below the national average for state and local taxes in 1961, the National Industrial Conference Board said Tuesday.

The board said such taxes rose to almost $39 billion, a rise of about 60 per cent in eight years.

The national average was about $211 per person.

Bulletins

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Three persons were killed and three others were injured today in an automobile accident four miles south of Stuttgart on state Highway 11.

The dead were said to be two women and one man, but identification was not made immediately. The injured were believed to be a woman and two children.

Utility Head Wants to Be the Speaker

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If Rep. W. R. (Witt) Stephens of Grant County is offered the post of Speaker of the House in 1965, he will take it.

Those were Stephens' words Tuesday in a statement he issued to squelch reports that he was retiring from candidacy for the post. Stephens said he has the pledged vote of 76 members of the House, 25 more than are needed to assure election to the post.

There had been reports that Stephens, chairman of the board of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., might decline nomination because of business reasons.

He said Tuesday, "I shall accept the speakership and serve to the best of my ability for the interests of all the people of Arkansas."

Acceptance hinged, he said, on whether he is re-elected Grant County representative next year.

Two other House members have been campaigning for the post. They are Reps. Ray Smith of Hot Springs and Cecil B. Nance Jr. of West Memphis.

Temperatures in Sunny 70s

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures soared into the sunny 70s Tuesday, and the Weather Bureau said more of the balmy, spring-like weather can be expected today and Thursday.

The 5-day forecast called for average temperatures four to eight degrees above normal with only minor day to day changes. Normal highs range from 46 in the north to 60 in the south. Normal lows range from 26 north to 38 south.

Highs of 64 to 74 were predicted for today, with lows tonight expected to range 35 to 45.

Overnight lows were generally in the high 20s and low 30s today, but Harrison reported a reading of 51 degrees.

No precipitation has been reported in the state the past several days, and the Weather Bureau said little or none was expected during the next five days.

Mayor's Pay in Special Fund

ALMA, Ark. (AP) — A special Alma Improvement Fund has been set up here by Mayor Roy Cronmer — and is financed with the mayor's salary.

Cronmer, a lumber company owner, said he is putting his $75-a-month salary into the special fund, which is earmarked for use by Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts for a summer recreation program.

A committee has been set up to administer the funds.

Germany Has Pledged Aid to NATO Program

By JOHN WEYLAND
BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pledged today that West Germany will cooperate in President Kennedy's plan for a multinational NATO nuclear force.

"Europe knows that it cannot defend itself without the support of the United States," West Germany's 87-year-old government chief told the Bundestag in a statement outlining the policy of his new coalition government.

Adenauer defended strongly the new French-West German treaty of cooperation as a step toward European unity. He vowed to keep working for Britain's entry into the European Common Market, vetoed last week by France.

Adenauer spoke against a background of growing domestic and foreign criticism of the French-German treaty as a possible disruptive force in Europe. The chancellor is striving to win Bundestag ratification of the treaty before his scheduled retirement next fall after 14 years in office.

Adenauer said that the only hope for Western freedom lies in a strong NATO and in a united Europe.

He cited Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech Jan. 20 in East Berlin promising that the whole of Germany would be Communist one day.

Adenauer told the Bundestag, "We regard the Nassau agreement (between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan) as a big step forward along the road to creating an effective multilateral nuclear deterrent for NATO. We wish to share the full responsibility for an effective NATO nuclear deterrent."

At the same time, Adenauer maintained that "without friendship between France and Germany a united Europe cannot come into being." He treated the breakdown in the Brussels negotiations as a temporary setback.

Adenauer said the objective of his government will be to see "that unity be restored soon among the Common Market members and that Great Britain's entry be made 'possible.'"

He said he regretted his overtures to improve relations with the Soviet Union have produced no results.

"I shall continue to hope," he said, "that the Soviet Union may also realize one day that it will ultimately not gain anything by its support of the terror regime (in East Germany), by its pressure on Berlin, and by its tense relationship with us."

"The federal government stands firmly for a free Berlin which belongs inseparably to the free part of Germany. The federal government will do everything to maintain and strengthen the viability of West Berlin."

Bonds Approved

HOGIE, Ark. (AP)—Hoxie residents approved, by a vote of 272 for to 22 against, a $100,000 bond issue Tuesday to finance water system improvements. The bonds carry a 10-mill tax levy. The 30-year issue will begin in 1963, Mayor Mitchell Davis said.

The city, as an approved ARA area, would become eligible for grants and loans for public facilities and to develop its industrial potential.

U.S. Cracks Down on Ships Carrying Goods to Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today barred shipment of U.S. government-financed cargoes on any ship which has been to Cuba since Jan. 1.

The long-expected order is aimed at discouraging free world ships engaging in trade with Cuba.

The new regulation falls considerably short of more sweeping proposals first planned by the administration last fall.

While House sources said the tougher proposals have not been adopted because of U.S. diplomatic success in getting the maritime countries to cut down on the Cuban trade.

These sources said too that stiffer regulations may be issued later if needed — and meanwhile the number of non-Communist bloc ships calling at Cuban ports has dropped from 92 last July to 14 in January.

Prospects Dim for Bill on Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospects for President Kennedy's omnibus education bill, never bright, were fading fast today as feuding disrupted the House Education and Labor Committee.

Republicans opposing the $5.3 billion 24-point measure hope to force a halt in the hearings, which Chairman Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., launched Monday. He then left for two weeks in Puerto Rico.

Powell had scheduled 10 days of hearings running through next week.

Rep. Peter Freylinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., the ranking Republican on the committee, said he will demand the presence of a quorum — 15 of the 29 members — before the hearings proceed. A quorum has not been present either of the first two days.

Acting Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., said he will let the full committee decide what action to take starting today.

That could mean an abrupt halt to consideration of the administration program in one big bill. Most members would prefer study by several subcommittees.

Prescott Declared a Jobless Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Employment and Security Division said Tuesday Prescott in Nevada County has been recommended by the Area Redevelopment Administration as an area of substantial and persistent unemployment.

The city, as an approved ARA area, would become eligible for grants and loans for public facilities and to develop its industrial potential.

J. Montgomery Dies Today in California

James Montgomery, age 53, died today in Coronado, Calif. He had been reporter on the San Diego, Calif. newspaper for many years. Mr. Montgomery started his newspaper career here working as a reporter on the old Star of Hope during his high school days. Later he worked for newspaper at Fort Smith and the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock. After service in World War II he settled in California. He was a graduate of Hendrix College.

He is survived by his parents the Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Montgomery, both of Hope. Funeral arrangements are incomplete but will be held in California.

Nevada Co. Can Get Jobless Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department announced Tuesday Nevada County is eligible for assistance under the Public Works Acceleration Act. The designation was made on the basis of an area labor market report showing substantial unemployment.

Literate Tag Goes on Voter Register Bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House Rules Committee tacked a literacy requirement today onto a proposed voter registration bill.

Hempstead County Rep. Talbot Field offered an amendment to require that a prospective registrant be able to read and to interpret sections of the Constitution in order to qualify to register.

The committee adopted the amendment unanimously.

The amendment, however, would give the registrar, designated as the county clerk in the bill, authority to challenge a voter's literacy qualifications. The amendment still must be approved by the House before it becomes a part of the bill.

Apparently it would leave the county clerk free to fail to challenge literacy if he desired.

The committee recommended passage of the bill as amended. The measure would set up a system of voter registration to take effect if the poll tax is outlawed. Arkansas now uses its poll tax system as a substitute for voter registration.

The committee also recommended passage of a bill setting up a bill under which voting machines may be voted in and used.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett explained that the measure is strictly permissive and governing bodies would not be required to buy the machines simply because voters have indicated a preference for them.

Bennett said that Amendment 50 which authorizes voting machines, specified that use of them must be permissive.

Also recommended for passage by the committee was Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dusen's bill to require a person to state his party preference when he buys a poll tax. The bill is designed to keep voters from crossing party lines in primaries.

The voter registration law has a similar provision.

Passage of a Field bill to require television stations to guarantee uniform transmission of political telecasts was recommended by a two to one vote. Only seven committee members were

GOPs Trying to Slash the Budget

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans have enlisted former Budget Director Maurice H. Stans for what they call a scientific attempt to cut President Kennedy's $98.8-billion budget.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Stans is expected to "take a good hard look" at the budget and come up with specific targets at which Republicans of both houses can aim.

A former California banker and a big game hunter, Stans is no stranger to government deficits. When he took over as budget director in March 1958, then President Dwight D. Eisenhower had already sent to Congress a $30.3-billion budget which wound up $12.4 billion in the red.

But Stans produced the following year a $76.5-billion budget with a $1.2-billion surplus — the first since fiscal year 1957. He wound up with an $81.5-billion fiscal 1961 budget which brought a $3.8-billion deficit.

Republicans generally think Kennedy has handed them a readymade issue for 1964 with the largest peace spending program in history, tagged with a prospective $11.9-billion excess of outlays over revenues.

They believe they can imprint in the voters' minds their "party of fiscal responsibility" slogan if they can get enough help from conservative Democrats to make any effective cuts in spending.

Their trouble has been that they find it politically difficult to carve the $55.4-billion defense request, a $4.2-billion space program and more than $5 billions for veterans. They concede there is nothing they can do about the nearly $10 billions required for interest on the national debt.

Stans was reported to have told leaders in preliminary conferences he thinks defense outlays could be cut back $3 billion without impairing security. But he reminded the Republicans of the political risks involved in any such action.

present and only three voted on the proposal, but Chairman Glenn Walthers ruled that the vote was enough to put a "do pass" recommendation on the bill.

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Senate — with only one voice raised in protest — passed statewide a "blue law" bill by a 28-2 vote Tuesday.

Sen. Dan Sprick of Little Rock made the only speech against the Sunday sales bill by Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs. Sen. W. K. Ingram of West Memphis joined Sprick in voting against it.

Such easy passage of the bill was not expected. Opposition reportedly is being marshalled in the House.

Hurst's bill is not technically a Sunday closing measure, although its effect would be to force most stores to close. It spells out a limited number of items which may be sold on Sunday.

"This law would make lairs and thieves out of those who try to adhere to it," Sprick declared.

"It's another example of bad legislation," Hurst defended his bill by saying Arkansas was the only state without some kind of law regulating Sunday sales.

The 1957 Legislature repealed Arkansas' blue laws, leaving this field of legislation to cities. Several cities, including Little Rock, have such laws in force. Such laws cannot apply outside city limits, however, and there is no way a county can now regulate Sunday sales.

The bill would prohibit sale of raw foods but would permit purchase of bread and some processed food items.

Action on the bill was the highlight of a rather dull legislative day dedicated primarily to action on budget bills and minor legislation.

The Senate approved the House version of the general appropriations bill with the Land Department budget remaining at $38,970 a year as recommended by the Legislative Council. This apparently ended a fight by some legislators to get the agency's budget increased. The Land Department now gets $73,100 a year.

The Senate passed its own version of a bill to relieve persons who give first aid in emergencies from liability for civil damage suits. The House passed a duplicate bill earlier.

A bill to repeal a 1914 initiated act requiring quarterly publication of detailed lists of county expenditures was introduced in the House by Reps. Bill Thompson of Poinsett County and Jim Shaver of Cross County.

County clerks, who now are responsible for publishing the lists, wrote the Thompson-Shaver bill. It would require county judges to publish semiannual county financial statements without detail.

Many counties have ignored the 1914 law. Newspaper publishers have urged its enforcement.

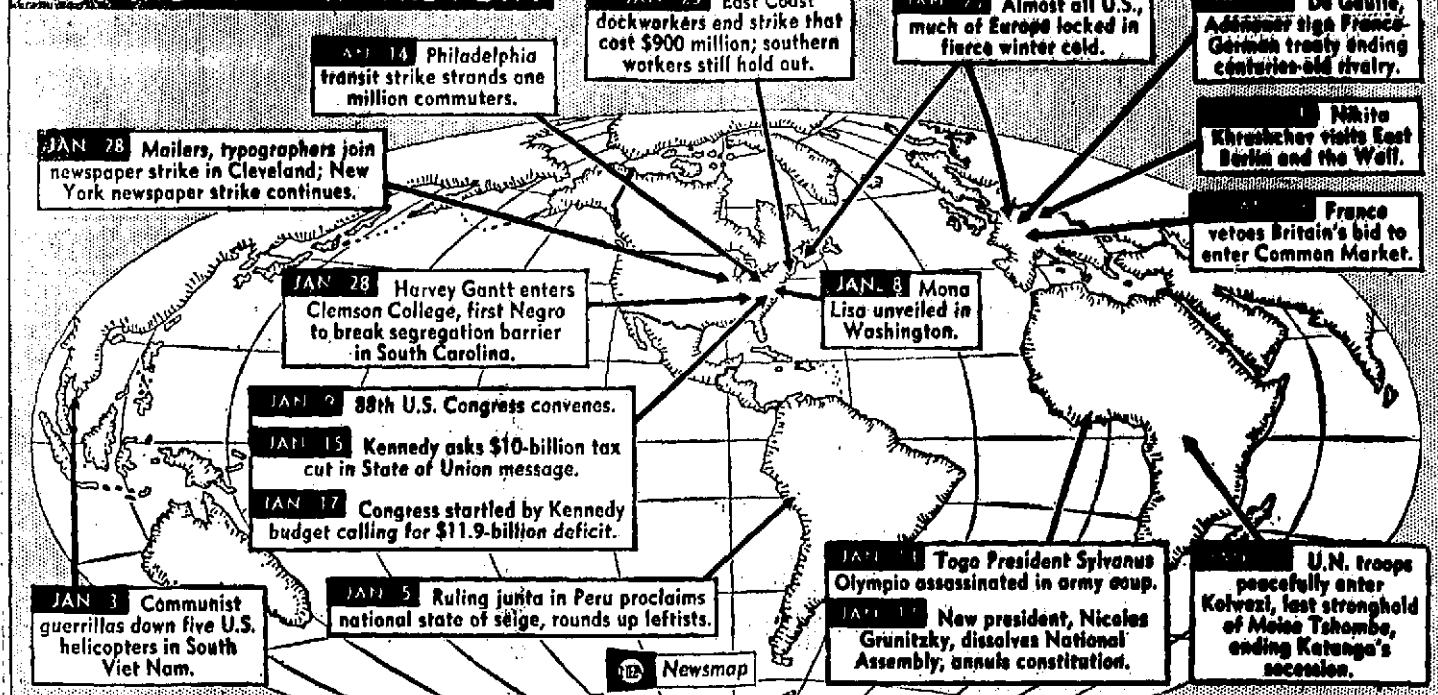

The Senate passed its version of a bill to let colleges issue revenue bonds to build parking lots. A similar bill has passed the House.

The House passed a Senate bill to exempt autos lent to school districts for driver education from state license fees and sales tax.

House bills to make lewd and abusive telephone calls illegal, to permit the state Board of Health to issue limited plumbers' licenses and to make it impossible for a person to avoid personal property taxes by licensing his automobile in another county also were approved in the lower chamber.

Sen. Max Howell introduced a bill to require a favorable major-

Kennedy. There were unconfirmed reports that the McCone testimony would be made public later.

The White House action seemed directed at quieting the belligerent partisan debate which has flared in Congress over a variety of reports of a massive Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., called today for public congressional hearings on the controversy over whether offensive Soviet missiles and bases remain in Cuba.

Humphrey, the deputy Senate leader, told a news conference he believes public hearings should be held since there have been charges that the Russian military buildup on the island is more menacing than the Kennedy administration admits.

"Candor is required in this situation," Humphrey said. "We should have open sessions on these matters. There isn't any information that it is going to be kept secret anyway."

Without saying so directly, Humphrey indicated that he thinks President Kennedy favors public hearings.

But at the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger, when asked about this, said he thought Humphrey was speaking just for himself. Salinger said that so far as he knew Kennedy had not expressed himself on the question of public hearings.

Humphrey said he thought there should be public testimony from, among others, Director John A.

McCone of the Central Intelligence Agency.

One of the questions involved, he said, is whether McCone is doing his job.

"I think he is doing his job. If somebody thinks he isn't, then he ought to get up and say it."

Humphrey criticized Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and others who have disputed administration contentions that there has been no significant strengthening of Soviet military power in Cuba since Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed last fall to withdraw offensive missiles.

Keating has contended, and the administration has denied, that the Russians still are maintaining missile bases.

"It is my feeling," Humphrey said, "that if any senator or congressman can add to the knowledge we have about what is going on in Cuba, he should first furnish the information to the CIA and after that is done, make a speech about it."

"The worst thing that can be done is to create doubt and suspicion."

The latest public word from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on the missile issue is that "there are undoubtedly missiles in Cuba" but not of the type that would menace the United States.

"Hello Matt," Bradley said when the detective identified himself on the phone. "I was just about to call you. Rodney McCann phoned from New York. He's flying here to attend Chet's funeral tomorrow."

"I'd say that's mighty nice of him," said Matt.

"Nice! He's coming in to eat me out for not having the murderer in the jug. Washington's still holding up those contracts."

"I think we'll nab him. Maybe tomorrow."

"Have you solved it?" There was disbelief in Bradley's voice.

"Not yet, Mr. Bradley, but I've just—"

"Not yet! I know you private detectives. I've hired 'em before. They're always just about to turn up important information when you put the heat on 'em. You don't know any more about who killed Doc Pruitt than I do."

"But Mr. Bradley—"

"Shut up and listen to me. I've just talked with Cliff Johnson on the phone. He's come up with an idea ten times better than anything you've had yet. Somehow he's gotten wind of a 3-D television picture tube that has just been patented. His idea is that Pruitt developed it in violation of his patent agreement. It seems that Pruitt suggested a similar device to Rispin a few years ago—"

"I was the man who gave Johnson that news, Mr. Bradley," said Matt.

"Don't try to grab credit," said Bradley. "One thing I hate is a fellow who tries to steal credit from somebody else. Now you listen to me, Johnson studies all the new patents and he spotted this. So we're going over to Belle Pruitt's house and get the facts. I don't care if it is the eve of her husband's funeral. We're going to find out about that 3-D picture tube. Then we'll have something to stick in McCann's face when he shows up tomorrow. Can you make an arrest, Bacon?"

"Sure, I can make an arrest on a felony charge," said Matt. "But you'd better be sure of your facts before you arrest Belle Pruitt for murder."

"We can arrest her for fraud. That's a felony, isn't it?"

"If you can prove it," said Matt.

The fact that proof might be needed stopped Bradley.

"I thought a trial proved whether a person was guilty or not,"

he said tersely.

"By proof, I mean substantial evidence that a fraud has been committed. I wouldn't advise any arrests on pure guesswork, Mr. Bradley," said Matt.

"We'll prove it. Rispin and Jack Clague and I are going out to talk to Belle and you'd better come along."

"Isn't Johnson coming?"

"No. It would be pretty embarrassing for him, considering his close friendship with the Pruitts and all," said Bradley.

It wasn't embarrassing for Johnson to go out of his way to present information that Matt eventually would have given Bradley, the detective decided. And that information might get Belle Pruitt in a lot of trouble.

"How soon can you be there?" Bradley asked.

Matt looked at his wrist watch. It was ten of seven. "I haven't hour and a half."

At 8:35 his taxi pulled up in front of the Pruitt home. After paying the driver, Matt noted that two cars were in the driveway, another was on the street in front of the house. And before he reached the sidewalk a fourth car stopped in front of the curb. Dr. Stroup got out.

"Bradley didn't tell me you were invited to this party," Matt said, as he waited for the physicist to catch up with him.

"Bradley didn't invite me," said Stroup. "Belle called and said she wanted someone in her corner when the fight started. She said Johnson got cold feet. He's backing for Rispin's job when the old man retires and I suppose he's afraid to take sides against Bradley."

"Johnson sang to Bradley and got Belle Pruitt in a lot of trouble," said Matt.

"Sang?"

"You'll hear all about it soon enough."

Matt used the brass knocker on the door and Belle Pruitt admitted them. She escorted the two men into the front room, where Bradley sat on the divan smoking a cigar. Rispin and Clague sat in straight chairs at right angles to Bradley.

"Just sit down, gentlemen," said Belle Pruitt, pointing to two chairs at the opposite end of the divan, facing Clague and Rispin.

"Would anyone like a drink?" Bradley spoke. "We're not drinking. Not any of us."

"Speak for yourself, Corbin."

Action of DeGaulle Has Really Hurt

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was like watching an unwitting guest bang into the China closet. The Kennedy administration had a different look each time another dish hit the floor.

With France it as surprise; with Russia, chagrin; with Canada, embarrassment; with Cuba, frustration. Unpleasant happenings with all four came within a few weeks after President Kennedy thought he was looking at a much calmer world.

The full impact of the trouble with France did not hit Kennedy until after his Jan. 14 talk to Congress about the calmness. Actually, it began just a few hours before in Paris.

There President de Gaulle chose that very day to tell a news conference he would not let Britain into the Common Market and wanted no part of Kennedy's plan for a NATO multinational nuclear force.

He wants his own weapons. His timing was brutal. It caught Kennedy by surprise. Ever since the United States, Britain, and other NATO and Common Market members have been milling around, not knowing what to do next.

Premier Khrushchev took advantage of this disarray to cross up Kennedy again. He had looked chastened and even reasonable, like a man who might be ready to do business at last, ever since Kennedy made him take his missiles out of Cuba.

At the nuclear test ban talks the Russians made a concession they had made once before but withdrawn: They would permit two or three on-site inspections in Russia to prevent cheating if there was a no-test agreement.

The United States wanted eight or 10 but this looked like progress. In an obvious attempt to encourage Khrushchev, Kennedy suspended American underground tests.

After the trouble with De Gaulle got severe, Khrushchev called off the talks. No doubt he felt he could make a better deal if the Western squabble got worse.

Then, as if things were not bad said Stroup as he and Matt took their seats. "I'll have one, please, Belle."

"You, Matt?"

"Just had dinner. It would be wasting the drink."

enough, the State Department goofed.

Although Secretary of State Dean Rusk later said Kennedy knew nothing about it beforehand the department got so burned up at this country's Canadian ally it later apologized for the scorching.

Under an American-Canadian agreement this country was supposed to supply its neighbor with missiles and bombers. The missiles needed nuclear warheads. Under an act of Congress this country cannot give away or sell nuclear weapons.

This required American control of nuclear-tipped missiles in Canada although Canada could have joint say on when they would be used.

Premier Minister Diefenbaker had different ideas: That Canada did not really need the missiles, and that if Canada had them they should control them. So everything stalled. The Canadians got into a hassle about it.

Last week the State Department sent Canada a stiff note, complaining about the delay and disputing Diefenbaker's arguments. His government stood pat. He complained this country was butting into Canadian affairs.

Rusk then apologized to "all Canadians" if the tone of the American note offended them. If the State Department had not handled this whole business too hastily, there would have been no need or reason to apologize.

Once more Cuba got on American nerves, this time because of the number of Soviet troops and weapons there. The Kennedy administration had been rather comfortable about Cuba ever since Khrushchev carted his missiles away last fall.

Now members of Congress were complaining about the size of Soviet forces in Cuba. Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said there were 30,000-40,000 Soviet troops there, plus missiles and other weapons.

The Pentagon minimized the number although the Kennedy administration last fall seemed slow in catching up on the Russian missile buildup in Cuba. Now Rusk admitted the administration has at concern.

ity in annexation cases of the total vote in both the city doing the annexing and the area to be annexed.

This apparently will substitute for an earlier Howell bill which would have required a favorable vote in each of the affected areas.

Howell also introduced a bill to appropriate $250,000 for construction of an educational television station. The future of this measure is uncertain, since the Legislative Council flatly refused to recommend funds for educational TV.

The Senate earlier Tuesday passed a bill to reorganize a state Educational Television Commission.

House introductions Tuesday included bills to:

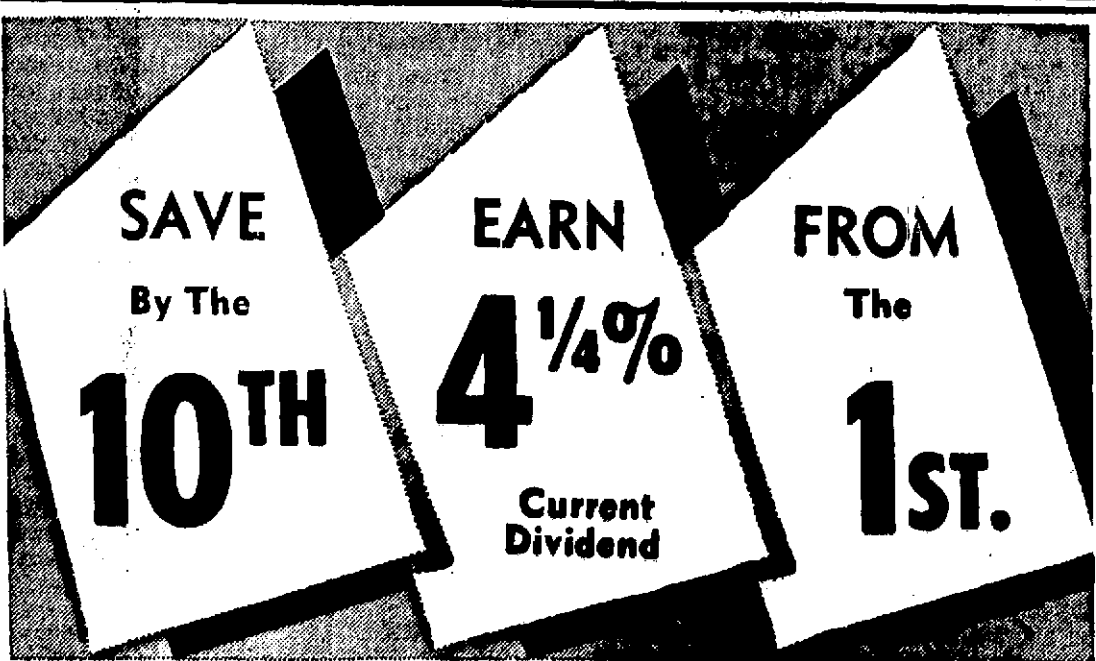

Eliminate a requirement that one-third of forest reserve funds received by a school district in lieu of taxes be deducted from the district's state aid.

Give cities authority to establish Historic Districts and prohibit altering of landmarks in such districts.

Permit issuing an Arkansas driver's license without examination to a person licensed to drive by another state or the armed forces.

Permit one city to contract to furnish water to another city.

The House was scheduled to reconvene at noon today and the Senate at 1 p.m.

The leader, Mrs. Edwin Ward, opened the meeting with prayer and conducted the business. Mrs. O. A. Graves brought an inspiring worship basing her remarks on a sermon by Bishop Ralph Cushman. Mrs. S. C. Crow gave an interesting program dealing with duties and training of the Methodist Exchange Students; followed with open discussion of their work. At the close of the meeting a period of fellowship was enjoyed during which time the hostess served a delicious dessert plate and coffee to ten members.

Duplicate Club Meets

The home of Mrs. Harry Hawthorne was the scene of the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club meeting on Monday, February 4. Of the 4 1/2 tables of players, Mrs. Wilma Steed of Pine Bluff was the only out-of-town player.

Resulting winners were: first, Dr. Harold Brents and Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr.; second, Mrs. Bill Rounton and Mrs. Al Graves, Jr.; third, Mrs. Harry Hawthorne and Mrs. Marie Hendrix.

Miss Carol Joy Case and John Terry Young Exchange Vows

Miss Carol Joy Case became the bride of John Terry Young in a double ring ceremony performed at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, January 20, in the First Methodist Church. Miss Case is the daughter of Mrs. Joy R. Case of Hope and D. V. Case of St. Petersburg, Florida, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Young of El Dorado. Rev. Rufus F. Sorrells officiated at the ceremony.

Two floor baskets of white gladiolus and mums marked the place of ceremony. Magnolia leaves and smilax adorned the altar rail and completed the background on the choir rail. Seven branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers and entwined with southern smilax added to the setting.

Mr. Luther Hollamon, organist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Jimmy Ray Lloyd as she sang "With This Ring." Escorted by Raymond Bright of Conway and given in marriage by her mother, the bride wore a floor length dress of rose pattern Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice of lace was fashioned with a deep cut neckline in scallops. The long fitted sleeves formed lily points over the hands. The full skirt of lace featured a cascade of alternate pleated tulle and lace from the waist to the hemline in the back ending in a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a seed pearl and cut crystal Swedish crown. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of split carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Jimmy Ray Lloyd, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Suzanne Sommerville was maid of honor and bridesmaids were: Sherry Hankins, Miss Sue Ann Smith and Miss Patsy Burroughs of Hope and Mrs. Curtis Blankenship of Warren. They wore dresses of emerald green peau de soie fashioned with scoop neckline, side drape and belted skirt. They wore emerald green pillbox hats and carried a single long stemmed white rose. Sue Warren of El Dorado, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a dress of white, fashioned with an overskirt organza and a white pillbox hat.

Peter O'Connor of El Dorado was best man. Ushers were Herbert Ray Martin and Johnny Gaston of El Dorado, Dee Webb of Mineral Springs, Don Puckett, Pine Bluff and Curtis Blankenship of Warren.

As the couple knelt for prayer the brides sister sang "Bless This House."

The brides mother wore a dress of rose peau de soie with matching accessories and a rose colored orchid corsage. The grooms mother wore a dress of champagne brocade, gold accessories, and a brown Cymbidium orchid. The brides grandmother wore a dress of blue lace, matching accessories, and a white rose corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride. The brides table was covered with a white taffeta cloth, caught at the corners with split carnations and green net. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake and the

India May Buy Daisy Rifles

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)—An official of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. said Monday the company has made no commitments concerning a proposal by India for the firm to build an air rifle plant in that country.

The official asked not to be identified.

He said the proposal calls for Daisy to build the plant and sell air rifles to the Indian government, which would use them to train Indian youths in the use of firearms.

Many of India's youth have never handled a gun. Instructors would be needed to demonstrate use of the rifles, but the official said he did not know whether Daisy would furnish instructors.

Cass Hough, president of the company, visited India several weeks ago and conferred with Indian officials about the proposal.

The Rogers firm produces a special training gun which would be used in the program, the official said.

Traffic Up on All Highways

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Traffic increases during 1962 at all access points to the state were reported Tuesday by the state Highway Department.

The department released its annual traffic volume map, showing an increase in the state to 344 per cent—based on a 1939 index of 100 per cent.

The map reflects traffic counts at 2,700 points in the state. It does not show a phenomenal climb at any point. The increase for 1961-62 averaged seven per cent.

The traffic count at Junction City, on U.S. 167 at the Arkansas-Louisiana line showed an increase of 300 vehicles a day, to 2,400. To the west, on U.S. 67 at Texarkana, traffic increased from 4,600 to 6,400.

Other points showed: U.S. 64, Fort Smith, up from 6,700 to 7,800; U.S. 65 entering the state from Missouri, up from 1,500 to 1,600; U.S. 67 near Corning, up 3,500 to 4,800 and at the Memphis-West Memphis bridge, up 1,000 to 25,000 daily.

Brides bouquet. Arrangements of carnations and gladiolus were used in the entertaining rooms.

Mrs. Mary Sue Evans introduced the guests to the receiving line which included the bride and groom, their parents and wedding party.

Mrs. Charles Lyons, sister of the groom, was in charge of the brides book. Miss Judy Barnett, Arkadelphia, and Miss Mary Audrey Sheppard, El Dorado, served the cake and punch. Assisting were Misses Eula Mae Thomas, Tommie Wagon, Barbe Barnett, Glenda Johnston, Mrs. Marolyn Croft and Mrs. Bettie Duncan.

For travel the bride wore a blue wool suit with black accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is residing at Ouachita Apartments, Arkadelphia, while attending Ouachita College.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Vonnie Edwards of Arkadelphia announce the arrival of their first child at Wadley Hospital in Texarkana on February 5. It is a 6 lb., 5 oz. boy, and he has been named Charles Allen. Grandparents, all of Hope, are Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hefner and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Schneiker.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Cora Lee Guthridge of Little Rock, Clothing Specialist with the Extension Service, U of A, has held meeting Tuesday and Wednesday at the Youth Center for interested club woman and was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shiver.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sutton, Sr. spent the weekend in Fayetteville with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sutton, Jr. and family.

With the swing to the smooth-textured unshiny face, more care in selection and application of make-up is needed. The matte look (left) is achieved through use of a combined medicated foundation and powder. The model (center) works for a more flattering lipline to highlight the total matte effect. She uses a petite lipstick that goes with an attractive, refillable compact. To thicken and lengthen her lashes, this girl (right) works with a swirl brush to apply tiny non-allergenic fibers to her lashes between two applications of mascara.

DOROTHY DIX

In Love With Love

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Until now my primary thought has been to finish school and start earning a living. I graduate from college this year and shall be 24 in April. Suddenly I feel very old and fear that unless I make the effort to marry soon, I shall remain single the rest of my life.

Frankly, I am eager to marry the boy with whom I have been "just friends" for the past three years. If that's impossible, there is a more casual candidate returning shortly from the Service whom I have dated from time to time.

Truthfully, I don't feel very hopeful about Number One. If, after three years of weekend dating he is not romantically inclined (and believe me, I've tried everything except writing you and now I'm doing that), then he probably ever will be.

He is 25, a college graduate in physics and currently working for a Master's degree. When I tell him it's silly for us to continue as we are he replies that he's not ready to settle down. For Christmas he gave me a book rated the best in children's literature for 1962 and he wasn't kidding, which was downright unfriendly, to say the least.

He flinches when I touch him and acts as if he were granting a favor in letting me do for him. But he continues to date me; is of my faith; shares my political and economic views, likes the same kind of food and clothing, and we have good times together so long as nothing serious is said about our relationship.

His mother has been married several times and now lives in a resort where rock and roll and gambling are the order of the day. She dyes her hair pink, and she wouldn't give any real masecara hangs in lumps from son for dropping him, just said her lashes and there's always some boy younger than her son has been dating any boy who on her arm and they don't just come along, good or bad. I stay on her arm either. But my friend thinks she's wonderful.

Because of her, I think him a little warped on the subject of what he wants in a woman.

Prospect Number Two (the returning soldier) is very fine, comes from a solid family and has a year at college to complete. Should I go for him or keep on trying to ignite the spark of romance in Number One? —Baffled

Dear Baffled: Don't force the issue with either boy. Relax, complete your education and give yourself a chance to meet other boys. To be over-eager is fatal.

Your trouble is that you're in love with love and that can be dangerous, especially when your choice of candidates is limited to two. The tendency is to romanticize the boy as you evidently have done with Number One.

Certainly a basic, mutual understanding is essential but to share precisely the same tastes in everything would be deadly monotonous. It is probably for this reason that your studious boy friend thinks his gay, frivolous mother so wonderful.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Is There a Test for Love?"

Dear Helen: My problem concerns a grandniece with whom the family can't do a thing. She's been keeping company for almost a year with the nicest boy who had everything: looks, disposition and family. Also he was a church-goer; never once missed Sunday school in all the 12 years we've known him.

Then suddenly my grandniece drops him like a hot potato, with no explanation. He sent her flowers, gifts, tried to talk to her on the phone, wrote special delivery letters, all to no avail. Her paragon of a boy had left her. I talked to her. She wouldn't give any real masecara hangs in lumps from son for dropping him, just said her lashes and there's always some boy younger than her son has been dating any boy who on her arm and they don't just come along, good or bad. I stay on her arm either. But my friend thinks she's wonderful.

ANGEL BABY

by Janet Henry

My outlook is rosy, my spirit is glad, I'm brimming with poise and aplomb; She looked at the girl in the glamorous ad And said "Mom."

Dear Worried: If your niece doesn't like the boy, nothing her family can do will change the picture. It's her life, let her lead it—even at the risk of taking the wrong road. All you can do is point the way to the right one. If she doesn't see it, that's that. Coercion will only make her more determined. Keep her confidence by encouraging her to make the most of herself.

ing our emotions terrific. Last night I said, "We simply can't go on like this. It isn't right." He said, "I agree but if we break up, I can't stand it." I feel the same way. My family likes him a lot. We are of the same faith. What can we do? —Dolorous

Dear Dolorous: If your parents approve and you both sincerely love one another, marry!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

All Ships Watched, Navy Says

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authorities said today every ship route into Cuba is watched by patrol planes and the Navy feels sure no vessels have slipped into Cuban ports undetected since the blockade.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., implied last week that two Soviet vessels which arrived in Cuba recently may have eluded surveillance. One of them unloaded arms, he said.

Keating said these ships followed a "maximum security route" which he said passed through areas "where the United States is least able to maintain adequate surveillance."

Usually reliable Navy sources, preferring to remain anonymous, said Keating probably is referring to a ship route entering the Caribbean between Venezuela and Puerto Rico.

These sources did not dispute that ships steaming this route might sometimes pass beyond the area covered by U.S. patrol planes.

But they said such vessels would be sighted—no matter how roundabout their route into the Caribbean—when approaching the few Cuban deep water ports.

Navy patrols fly day and night surveillance missions from Jacksonville, Fla., Key West, Fla., the Guantanamo naval base on the eastern end of Cuba, and from Puerto Rico. This, the Navy says, gives complete coverage of the waters around Cuba. The planes carry night vision infrared cameras.

Also on watch is a sizable force of Navy ships, plus units of the Coast Guard.

The Defense Department has refused on security grounds to say how many vessels have anchored in Cuban ports since the blockade was lifted last Nov. 20, or to identify nationalities of such ships.

Last Thursday the Pentagon broke this rule to say that two large Soviet ships arrived in Cuba some days earlier and that "there is no evidence that either carried offensive weapons." This statement came after Keating made a Senate speech claiming a continued and growing Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

The Navy does not claim it can tell whether incoming vessels carry arms — but officers say they would know a missile-carrier when they saw one.

Marines to Make Like Roughriders

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—At President Kennedy's suggestion, 20 Marine officers will attempt a 50-mile hike next week—to see if they can move forward with the vigor demanded of Leathernecks by President Theodore Roosevelt.

The unusual military exercise, to be conducted at Camp Lejeune, N.C., stemmed from the recent discovery of a long-forgotten executive order in which Roosevelt prescribed fitness standards for Marine officers.

Gen. David M. Shoup, the Marine commandant who shares Kennedy's interest in fitness, sent the 54-year-old document to the President as an historic curiosity.

Kennedy decided, however, that it was more than a curiosity. He responded with a proposal that Shoup find out "how well our present-day officers perform the tests specified by President Roosevelt."

In a matter of hours, Marine headquarters prepared a detailed directive ordering a test by officers of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune.

At least 10 captains and 10 lieutenants, selected to provide a representative sample of personnel, will take the test. Shoup warned they should not be told about the experiment in advance.

Once the officers are assembled, they will get these marching orders:

Walk 50 miles in no more than three days, with actual walking time and rest stops limited to 2 hours. Shoup noted, rather pointedly, that some officers of 1908 covered the course in a single day.

Upon reaching the final half-mile, the officers must double-time 200 yards, rest for 30 seconds, then double-time for 300 yards, rest a minute, and wind up with a 200-yard dash to the finish line.

Actually, this could be more than a test of Marine vigor. The entire White House staff may have a stake in the results—particularly Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary.

As Kennedy noted in his letter to Shoup, Theodore Roosevelt "laid down such requirements not only for the officers of the Marine Corps but, when possible, for members of his own family, members of his staff and Cabinet, and even for unlucky foreign diplomats" who were dragged into hiking with him through Washington's Rock Creek Park.

The President told Shoup that if the test indicates "that the strength and stamina of the modern Marine is at least equivalent to that of his antecedents, I will then ask Mr. Salinger to look into the matter personally and give me a report on the fitness of the White House staff."

Women Offered Police Whistles

BALTIMORE (AP)—Women who work evenings were offered free police whistles Monday by the American Legion.

Daniel Burkhardt, state adjutant of the Legion, said the whistles would be given to the first 100 women visiting the Legion office in Baltimore's War Memorial Building.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office ruled today that a person may serve as justice of the peace and as a member of the state Conservation Board at the same time.

The ruling went to Justice of the Peace J. F. Jacobs of Benton. Jacobs asked the attorney general's office whether serving in both positions would be a violation of state law.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Russell J. Woods said Arkansas law provides only that no person shall perform the duties of more than one office in the same department of the government at the same time, except as expressly permitted by the constitution.

LINCOLN HEIRLOOMS—Robert Todd Lincoln Beckwith, great-grandson of Abraham Lincoln, holds items of Lincolniana which he was awarded by a District of Columbia court in an ownership suit. The rifle, the first lever action rifle ever made, was presented to President Lincoln during the Civil War. The chair once belonged to the wife of Robert Todd Lincoln, the president's eldest son. Beckwith plans to donate the items to the Smithsonian Institution.
